

Newsboys

In 1914, a common job for city boys was selling newspapers. These enterprising kids, known as newsies, bought 100 newspapers for 50 cents and sold them for a penny each.

News girls Too!

Most newsies were boys, but some girls sold newspapers as well.

Can you find these pictures of the newsboy and his dog in Pennies for Elephants?

